Alcan Cable connects with county, revenue bond issue sparks opening

by JAKE JACOB

Jack Robinson, president, Alcan Cable Division, a totally owned subsidiary of Alcan Aluminum Corporation, described by him as a "...$3 billion firm..." having 60,000 world wide employees, received a favorable audience before the Hancock County Board of Supervisors on Tuesday who agreed to shoulder the responsibility of endorsing the issuance of $4.5 million of industrial revenue bonds for Alcan, an issue previously earmarked for signature by the City of Bay St. Louis. Mayor Larry Bennett of that city suggested the county assume the new financial chores, following a suggestion in this direction advanced by bonding attorneys after their being faced with details concerning the Bay's pending $375,000 court settlement on the James Warner case. Warner was seriously injured in a diving accident off a Bay St. Louis municipal pier in 1969. He died in 1975.

Jack B. Lyle, vice president, Hendrix, Mohr, and Yardley, Inc., of Birmingham, whose firm will sell the bonds, verified the necessity of switch saying that due to the city's "problems" he thought the sale might be hurt should the current batch of resolutions stand.

Robinson told supervisors the bond proceeds are to be used for the purchase of equipment, needed to make the plant, located on Railroad Ave., Bay St. Louis, into the most modern of its type in America.

He described his intended product as being one of "...low added value..." indicating that the manufacturing time frame between arrival of raw material to the shipping of completed cable was short and process would be rapid.

The cable will be utilized by such companies as Mississippi Power, in the underground connection of houses to the main supply source.

Of the area beyond the current construction, but inside the same fence, some 20 acres, Robinson said Alcan Cable "...had dreams..." but that it would be improper for him to expound further at that point.

The president allowed that 50 employees would be hired from the Hancock area during Phase One of the operation a total climbing to between 70 and 75 as the crank got turning and operations moved into Phase 2.

He described the company's market analysis as showing prospective buyers ready to place orders in quantities "...like their is no tomorrow..." a summation indicating favorable business cycle throughout the bond repayment span.

Indicative of the nation's energy needs, a representative of Mississippi Power Company testified before the county mentors that sufficient resources (ALCAN — Page 4-A)

Chamber names

Jerry Benigno

to new top slot

The Hancock County Chamber of Commerce has named Mrs. Jerry Benigno, formerly Chamber secretary and bookkeeper, to the newly-created post of executive secretary.

The Chamber's board of directors created the executive secretary position to fill the vacancy left by the resignation of Capt. Max Berns (U.S. Navy-Res.) who had served as Chamber manager since 1975.

Richard L. Thomas, newly-elected president of the Chamber, said Berns' resignation followed an administrative shakeup designed to cut the Chamber's overhead costs.

Mrs. Benigno's appointment is effective as of Jan. 1. Thomas said funds freed through the administrative reorganization will be

Tax assessor post sought by Howard Lizana

Howard Lizana of White Cypress this week became the first candidate to officially qualify for the position of tax assessor-collector vacated Dec. 31 by George Heitzmann.

Lizana filed his petition, containing fifty signatures of registered voters within the county, on Monday with the circuit court clerk, Henry Otis.

The petition is a necessary prerequisite for a candidate to qualify and have his or her name placed in contention on the ballot.

The candidate has maintained a barber shop in Piquette for the last 13 years, and has been employed by the Irvin Lacoste Construction Co., for the last three and one half years.

Married to the former Elaine Deschamps, the couple have three children, Dennis, Desiree, and Danny. Lizana is a graduate of old Kiln High School and attended barber vocational school at Hinds Junior College from 1960-'61.

A member of the White Cypress Catholic Church, the candidate ran for office of tax assessor and collector in the last general election, placing second in a three-man race.

Krishna shooting, Waveland kidnapping to go before Hancock grand jury Monday

Circuit court opens Jan. 9

by EDGAR PEREZ

An aggravated assault case involving a 25-year-old member of the International Society for Krishna Consciousness and four Pearl River area juveniles is scheduled to be presented to the January session of the Hancock County Grand Jury which convenes Monday.

The Krishna Society is also party to a civil suit before the Hancock County Circuit Court which also begins its January term the first of next week.

Justice Court Judge Horatio Frieron Jr., in late September bound over to the January grand jury Krishna devotee

Darrell Martin who allegedly fired a 30-06 rifle shot, said to have struck one of the Pearl River youths in the leg.

The four youths contend they were riding in a pickup truck near the Krishna's New Talavan Community north of Leetown in Hancock County and had stopped to change drivers when one of them was struck.

Krishna members appearing at a preliminary hearing on the incident in September alleged the youths, who were reportedly armed, had been engaged in "harrassment tactics" at the Krishna community at the time of the incident.

In the Krishna's civil suit against the Hancock County Board of Supervisors, the group is seeking a total tax exemption on 640 acres which it owns on the basis the land is used for the operation of a school and church.

The supervisors had agreed to grant a tax exemption on only 10 acres of the group's holdings, acknowledging the church right but not the school.

In the court's October term, Judge Ruble Griffin continued the case to the January term to be presided over by Judge Leslie Grant of Biloxi.

Judge Griffin thus effectively recused himself from the case following plaintiff's contention he might be biased due to his previously having represented the defendants when in private practice, and to having been a law partner of the defendants attorney, Sam Favre.

Judge Grant is not known to have represented anyone with Hancock County interests.

The cases of two Gulfport women bound over by the Waveland City court in October on shoplifting charges is also expected to be heard by the January grand jury.

The women, Geannie Buckley, 27, and Bessie Nelson, 35, were apprehended in October after a high-speed chase along U.S.-90.

They were accused of shoplifting at three Bay St. Louis super markets and another in Waveland.

City Judge Joseph Benvenutti

dismissed the Bay St. Louis charges against the women for lack of evidence, but City Judge Lucien Cox of Waveland declared eyewitness testimony against the pair in his court sufficient evidence to bind them over.

Jack Hurkes and his wife, Marsha, were bound over to the January grand jury on charges of resisting arrest, pointing and aiming a deadly weapon, and assaulting a police officer.

The pair was charged following a series of incidents in late September which resulted in an early closing of the Hancock County Livestock Show and Fair by Sheriff Sylvan Ladner.

Justice Court Judge William Frisbie of Beat Five set bond at $1,000 each on

Kellar named board prexy, Feb. 11, election date

by JAKE JACOB

Alton A. Kellar, Beat 2, was reelected chairman of the Hancock County Board of Supervisors Tuesday at that group's first business session of 1978.

James Travira, Beat 5, was renamed as vice chairman, and John D. Rutherford, Jr., chancery clerk, reappointed clerk of the board.

In a single change, Walter Cox, III, was appointed board attorney, replacing Sam Favre whose resignation was submitted, effective Dec. 31, due to ill health.

All other county employees were reappointed to their present jobs at existing salaries.

Both Hancock and Gulf National Banks were accepted as county depositories, and bids submitted on a vast span of county housekeeping and supply needs were taken under advisement, for tabulation.

Henry Otis, circuit clerk and registrar of voters, told supervisors that he had been in contact with the attorney general concerning the registration of voters in the new West Shoreline Park precinct, created from the top half of the former South Bay precinct.

He said he had received authorization for his office to man the polls on election day to transfer people who had been unable to register in their new voting place.

"We only have 75 people registered so far and we think there are lots of people out there who have not taken the time to reregister," Otis said.

Supervisors set the date of the special election as, first primary, Saturday, Feb. 11, and second primary, Saturday, Feb. 25.

Candidates have until Feb. 1 to qualify with Otis, a period in the 10 days required by law.

In a separate matter, Sheriff Sylvan Ladner appealed to the supervisors for aid in repairs to his 47-year-old jail, to correct conditions he described as being, "...kind a dangerous."

The "conditions" concerned broken wiring and serious water leaks in the walls.

Supervisors, declared the jail problems an emergency and called for specifications to be amended on needed repairs. These will be undertaken following the grand jury and court session, a time when Ladner hopes to reduce the number of prisoners being detained within the county facility.

Youth Court Referee Michael Haas sought and obtained a county grant of $138.50, as matching funds to some $2493 and $138.50, available from federal and state sources, to institute a telephone system inside the court.

"The judge's office does not even have a telephone," Haas revealed.

Haas said he had not sought the funds prior to this time due to his knowing the county was short of money but as the amount was so small, in relation to the total cost and grants funds available, he had come before them.

The referee indicated the system would be purchased outright permitting installation and operations that will not increase court operating overhead.

Special election registration deadlines given

Henry Otis, Hancock County circuit clerk, has announced that the deadline to register to vote in the special election for Tax Assessor-Collector will be 30 days before said election, or by 5 p.m.

Thursday, Jan. 12.

Anyone who is not now registered to vote in the county may register at the office of the circuit clerk, in Room 3, County Courthouse between the hours of 9 a.m. and 12 noon, and 1 and 5 p.m.,

Monday through Fridays.

The circuit clerk's office will be open on Saturday, Jan. 13, 14th, and 15th, 9 a.m. to 12 noon, to facilitate registration. Deadline to register for the runoff election will be on Thursday, Jan. 26, and anyone registering during the two-week period between Jan. 12 and Jan. 26, will be able to vote in the runoff election but not in the election of Feb. 11.

In a separate court issue, Haas said he had obtained agreement with Michael Smith concerning a half lot still owned by Smith to the rear of the court building.

A separate lot, owned by another, was also involved.

Enrollment, expansion, all part of Southern's old year

The year 1977 was one of growth and expansion at the University of Southern Mississippi Gulf Park Regional Campus. Degree programs were added in special education, paralegal studies and political science. Education facilities along the coast were drawn together through the Two-Plus-Two program coordinating two years of study at area junior colleges and two years of study at USM-GP to complete requirements for a degree.

Enrollment at USM-GP was up 15 percent fall quarter over a year ago and winter quarter registration reflects a 9 percent increase over the same time in 1976. Over 150 courses are available in 43 subject areas according to Dr. Joe Holloway, Dean of USM-GP. "I feel the increase is due in large part," Dr. Holloway said, "to new programs, the Two-Plus-Two program with the Mississippi Gulf Coast Junior College and an emphasis on career programs that directly meet the needs of coast residents."

Degrees available on the coast through the Two-Plus-Two program include business administration; business administration with a real estate emphasis; computer science; computer science for Jeff Davis and Jackson County transfers from data processing technology; construction technology; criminal justice; data processing; elementary education in K-3 early education, K-8 comprehensive and 4-8 middle grades; English in secondary education and non-teaching; history for secondary teaching and non-teaching; industrial technology with special options for military training background and for Jackson County transfers; industrial and vocational education with secondary school certification or a post secondary option; mathematics with secondary and non-teaching programs; political science; psychology; paralegal studies; non-teaching political science and social studies for secondary or non-teaching.

Master degree programs are available in education administration and supervision; secondary education with emphasis in English, general science, history, political science, social studies or mathematics; elementary education; criminal justice; business administration; telecommunications; computer science and special education.

Course work may also be available in other areas such as banking and finance, advertising, adult education, counseling, physical education, nursing and many others.

Consolidated trucking firm to serve here

The Bay-Waveland area is now to be served by one of the nation's largest trucking companies, Consolidated Freightways (CF).

The new service started this week with the opening of a new terminal on Three Rivers Rd., Gulfport, and in the cities of New Orleans, La., Rome, Ga., and Mobile, Anniston, Decatur, Dothan, Florence, Gadsden, Montgomery, Salem, Alabama.

Walter J. Wigen, CF's manager of company facilities at Gulfport, said yesterday the expansion follows the company's acquisition of the interstate general commodities operating rights of the Baggett Transportation Company of Birmingham, Ala.

With the opening of the Gulfport and New Orleans, La. terminals, CF will begin serving the states of Mississippi and Louisiana for the first time.

"Previously the company's only Alabama terminal was in Birmingham," Wigen said. "Consolidated Freightways serves 44 states, from coast to coast, including Alaska, as well as eastern and western Canada."

Real estate is extremely popular at USM-GP with over 150 enrollments for fall quarter. Plans are being made to issue a certificate in real estate to those taking as many as four courses.

For the first time in 1977 the Certified Life Underwriter exam was given on the campus.

A new Marine Resources Building was dedicated honoring the late Harold Robert Barber of Gulfport. He served as an early trustee of Gulf Park College for Women, was later a chairman of its board and served in many other capacities prior to his death in 1976.

Two new divisions were formed during the year. Dr. Brooks Smith was named director of the new Division of Business Administration and Dr. Theron Manley was named director of the Division of Education and Psychology. Dr. John Burch was promoted to the position of assistant dean with responsibility for coordination of all academic programs other than those formed into separate divisions.

Louis Elias, formerly evening coordinator, was named director of student services. Richard Mendenhall was promoted to assistant dean with responsibility for the bookstore, placement bureau services, coordination of evening classes and assisting in the evaluation of transfer credit.

New emphasis was given to the nursing program with Russell Swansburg, associate professor of nursing, being assigned to the Gulf Park campus to coordinate courses and programs for nursing education.

Following Hurricane Camille in 1969 Gulf Publishing Company established the Mississippi Gulf Coast Foundation to aid coast residents who suffered losses during Camille.

Money left from this project was given this year to USM-GP. It will be used to assist students through short-term emergency loans, scholarships, library books, and materials, research relating to the seafood industry, tourism, real estate and other areas of primary interest to the Gulf Coast and the continuing effort to rebuild.

New programs will continue to be added at USM-Gulf Park in an effort to better serve the people of the area. Plans for 1978 call for a master of science degree with a major in reading.

Gulf Park faculty members serve as resource people for various activities in the community. Dr. Bill Lee and Charles Thompson organized and implemented an independent study program for gifted and talented coast area high school students.

Dr. Lee received a $10,000 commission to develop and coordinate regional seminars for Phi Delta Kappa on the subject of declining public school enrollments. These regional seminars will be administered through the Division of Continuing Education and Public Service at USM.

Dr. Halil Ozerden, associate professor of psychology, received the Excellence in Teaching Award for the Gulf Park faculty.

Dr. John Wallace, associate professor of history, published a book relating to the service of his regiment in World War II, "The Blue Devil 'Battle Mountain' Regiment in Italy: A History of the 350th Infantry Regiment 1944-45" is an effort to show how this regiment fit into the campaign in Italy.

The USM-Gulf Park Regional Campus is part of an effort by the University of Southern Mississippi to take education to the people and equip them for a better life.

The reduction results from an act passed by Congress in 1970, which calls for the gradual reduction of the federal excise tax rate on telephone service. It will continue to be reduced one percent a year until it is completely eliminated in 1982. The change will result in an estimated savings to Mississippi customers of more than $3 million this year.

Alcan...

are available to Alcan now and, as far as can be determined, for the next 30 years.

Finally, to complete the necessary documentation, Alcan let the record show that their labor survey had revealed a sufficiency of persons willing to work and being between the ages of 18 and 50 living in the area.

"We hoped to be operable by this time in 1979," the Alcan Cable press proclaimed.

All bond payments will be met by the company, who will be responsible to the state should default occur.

No county funds or collateral are required.

A like bond issue, but for $850,000, to Atlas Powder Co., a subsidiary of Tyler Corporation of Texas, and L.K. Moore, Jr., for utilization on a proposed venture at Port Bienville, was turned aside by the supervisors after hearing Port Director Wilson W. Wehre call for a cautious approach to their decision.

The supervisors are to meet in joint session with the Port and Harbor Commission tonight in an effort to resolve the differences brought about by the agreement, wherein, according to Wehre, L.K. Moore, president, Bienville Terminals, Inc., lessee of the Port Bienville Terminal Building, would be the benefactor and not the county.

Wehre said that under the proposed lease arrangement, Moore would own all the 60 acres of land and improvements in 20 years and not the county.

"I would rather see the county remain the lessee," Wehre explained. Supervisors experienced a further cooling trend when Atlas Powder attorney Jim Heitz asked for various waivers to the port's protective covenants, waivers which called for, among other things, the crediting of dockside and ship crew employees to the numbers required of a company having that much acreage, and a request that Atlas be informed when other shippers were moving volatile cargoes across the county docks. This to prevent an over accumulation of explosives on the dock in violation of national safety codes.

Wehre further said he had polled the balance of industry at Port Bienville, all of whom were against the installation of the nitro-carbon product transshipment center at that location.

He said the purpose of the state sponsored industrial revenue bonds was for the county to gain the ultimate benefits over the long term, and not an individual.

"Here we are giving up some of the most valuable lands on the waterway. The terminal is not individually owned. It was put here by the US Government, or the benefit of the county," Wehre claimed, arguing against its commitment for the exclusive use of any one company or group for any length of time.

The port director, who was accompanied by several members of his commission which was in session, said his group had not been apprised of the contents of a memorandum being that day presented to the supervisors.

The supervisors have called a special meeting for 9 a.m., Monday, to further hear argument in the issue.

back the money, give it to the schools and they would arrange for disbursements.

Switching to oil: -referred a request by the Monroe Oil Co., Bookter and Necaise, to relocate their bulk plant to US-90 and Main, to the Planning and Zoning Commission for their recommendations;

-approved purchase of fire department items from suppliers whose bid price per item was lowest;

-at the request of their mayor, Larry Bennett, deferred until next meeting acceptance of a natural gas rate increase of 9.5 percent, effective Jan. 1, an increase upping gas cost to the city from $1.43.88 per 1000 cubic feet, to $1.57.50 per 1000 cubic feet;

-cried "foul" upon learning that a bill of exceptions, filed following a rezoning hearing last month, is to be reviewed by the court without their being able to add to the transcript, with individual councilmen Fred Wagner and Wilmer Seymour saying they would have sought to bring out additional testimony had they realized such was to be the case;

-were told by Charles H. Hill of Burk and Associates their engineers, that a crew would be in today to inspect the sewer main breaks;

-approved the claim docket subject to some modifications and instructed the mayor to closely monitor Main St. project partial payments;

-took under advisement a request from the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce to have their city payment hiked from $100 to $150 per month.

Research is major USM 1977 achievement, role

Research played a key role in the lives of many University of Southern Mississippi faculty members and students during 1977. Research in an effort to improve the lives of Mississippians is a vital part of service activities at the University. More than a million dollars in research grants were awarded to the University during the first four months of the current fiscal year which began in July.

Attracting the most attention was a Department of Energy (DOE) grant for more than $400,000 to the Polymer Science Department for research related to enhanced oil recovery. The objective of this largest grant ever received at USM is to discover an improved polymer process that would free oil trapped in porous rock and sand structures allowing the oil to be pumped out of the ground for consumer usage.

Other universities across the nation received similar DOE grant to study enhanced oil recovery but USM has the only such grant related to the use of polymers.

A variety of other grants received by Polymer Science funded research related to the systemic effects of fractionated man-of-war toxin, development of anti-fouling coatings to allow boats freer passage through the water, controlled release pesticides to prevent ecological problems and work toward an improved bonding agent for use in Masonite wood products.

The College of Education and Psychology received funding to work on research areas such as a special education cooperative training program and special education training for the handicapped. Additional funding will lead to better vocational teacher training in various areas and will deal with coordination of programs for the gifted and talented.

Almost every area of the University is involved in research to provide new information or needed services. The School of Health, Physical Education and Recreation is working on curriculum development for alcohol education, researching how motor skills are developed, studying water jogging for health and diseased individuals and working to expand the effectiveness of the Mississippi traffic safety center.

The College of Business Administration is involved in the development of a management plan for shrimp and menhaden in the Gulf. They are also doing management and marketing studies to aid business and industry within the state and are in the process of doing a tourism study.

The College of Liberal Arts is working on pre-college language skill development and a handicapped personnel preparation program of assistance is speech and hearing among other projects.

The College of Science and Technology is researching the genetic aspects of mental retardation and works in many other research areas in addition to the Polymer program.

Research at USM helps faculty and staff keep current in their profession while giving students an opportunity to participate and learn the value of such work. It also does much to enhance the future of Mississippians and people everywhere.

THE OLE PASTOR SAYS...

Inscribed on a building at a certain college campus are these words: "You are not what you think you are, but you are what you think."

The Bible says essentially the same thing in these words: "For as he thinketh in his heart, so is he" (Prov. 23:7). None of us are what we think we are. Few men measure up to their own evaluation of themselves. But we are what we think. Here is the way it works:

A base thinker is base. Think evil and we become evil. How does a person become a murderer, a traitor, an adulterer, a blasphemer, a miser, a degenerate? It all begins with a thought harbored and nurtured until it becomes a full grown act of evil. A man becomes a murderer when he allows himself to hate to the point that he thinks of murder. A person cannot think impure thoughts without becoming corrupt. One simply cannot practice low thinking without it producing low living. We are what we think!

The converse of this is also true. High thinking produces high living. That is why the Bible says: "Whatever things are true, whatever things are pure, whatever things are lovely, whatever things are of good report; if there be any virtue, and if there be any praise, think on these things." (Phil. 4:8).

Essential to a happy and confident life is a good conscience. A good conscience comes from clean, obedient Christian living. The mental faculties control our actions. To a large degree the quality and level of our mentality depends upon what we feed into our minds. We are what we think!

"If ye then be risen with Christ (saved by His grace), seek those things which are above... Set your affection on things above, not on things on the earth." (Col. 3:1-2).

David prayed: "Let the words of my mouth, and the meditation of my heart, be acceptable in thy sight, O Lord, my strength, and my redeemer." (P. 10:14). — L. S. Walker

The sheriff closed the fair after an air of tension developed between county youth exhibiting livestock and operators of rides and carnival games.

Bobby Lee Allgood, 19, of Piquette and Shoreline Park, being held in lieu of $7,500 bond in the Hancock County jail pending a January grand jury hearing, is charged with attempted kidnapping. Allgood allegedly pointed a gun at a young woman and demanded she get in his car in the Majik Market parking lot on Waveland Avenue at Central Avenue in early September.

He was bound over by Judge Gex of the Waveland City court, and has since been undergoing sanity hearings at the Gulf Coast Mental Health Center in Gulfport.

The criminal docket for the January term of Circuit Court, listing case number, defendant, and charges, includes:

Army brat born at Fort Sill retires there 40 years later

Sgt. First Class Marvin A. Ross Jr. (U.S. Army-Ret.) is the epitome of an "army brat."

Born at Fort Sill, Okla., where his father was stationed, in January, 1938, he retired in December at Fort Sill after more than 20 years in the Army.

"One thing an army brat never has to worry about in school is geography," Ross said in enumerating the many countries he has visited, first during his father's career, and then during his own.

Ross was a recent visitor at the home of his mother, Mrs. John E. (Pat) Schott, 805 Dubar Avenue, Bay St. Louis.

Between the elder Ross—Lt. Col. Marvin A. Ross (U.S. Army-Ret.) of Hebron, Conn.—and the more recently retired younger Ross, they accumulated more than 48 years of Army service between them.

Young Ross, who as a boy witnessed the war crimes trials in Tokyo and later served in Vietnam, said he only encountered one leader in his life who could understand the oriental mind, "and that was Gen. Douglas MacArthur."

"And after all the travel the Army has afforded me, and the opportunities to meet such a variety of national and ethnic types, I have finally come to the conclusion that the peoples of the world are more alike than they are different," Ross feels.

Of all the cities he has visited, Ross described Edinburgh, Scotland, as "the most impressive."

Ross spent his Army career in electronics, so with a wife and four children in Harrogate, England, and a mother, sister and several other relatives in the Bay St. Louis area, he is looking for civilian employment international in nature in order to capture the best of both worlds.

During a tour of duty at Camp Leroy Johnson, New Orleans, Ross was frequently involved in maneuvers on Cat Island in the Mississippi Sound. Following visits to the Mississippi Gulf Coast at that time, Ross said, he sang the praises of the area to members of his family.

"Now they are all living over here," he noted.

Ross is also high in his praises of the new, all-volunteer Army.

He said the Army now strongly emphasizes continuing education, self-improvement and advancement. "The man who doesn't make the prescribed number of advances in rank over specified time periods will probably soon find himself back in civilian life these days," he pointed out.

The sergeant said there is a new attitude prevalent in today's Army.

"There used to be a feeling of aloofness on the part of non-commissioned officers in their dealings with the men, a belief in the axiom 'familiarity breeds contempt,'" Ross explained.

"But, that's all been replaced with tact, diplomacy and a desire on the part of the leadership to treat the men in the ranks like human beings," Ross continued.

"We learned that yelling and screaming is not the way to draw forth the best effort from people," he commented.

"Unit awards are given on the basis of individual letters of commendation, and this results in the men of the Army dealing with one another as individuals," Ross stated.

The Army started its all-volunteer program in 1970 and the period of adjustment through 1973 was roughest for the Army, Ross feels.

"That was the worse time the Army had," Ross said, adding, "We were a little too loose and things like the drug problem just got out of hand."

He pointed out that pay and benefits in the new Army are vastly improved over what they were when he started 20 years ago.

"A private gets $348 per month now, and after two years he is making $480 plus food, lodging and medical benefits," the career soldier boasted.

He noted with his Army medical benefits, the birth of each of his four children cost him "somewhere between $13 and $26."

"The all-professional Army is a challenge to the leadership," Ross noted.

"But if the Army teaches you anything, it is how to be flexible and how to adjust to changing situations," he added.

"The Army was the first institution in this country to integrate the races," Ross pointed out, noting he has taken four Army courses on race relations and human relations.

"But the emphasis in the Army today is on alcohol and drug awareness programs," he noted.

"It's not the old Army anymore where a highly trained man might have found himself changing lug nuts in the motor pool," Ross said.

"If a young man wants to learn electronics and communications, the Army today is the place to be," Ross feels, "especially since the Army is heavily into satellite communications."

He said "adventure training" is the new approach in the Army, with a ski week in Burtchesgarten as an example of that type of training undertaken while he was serving in Germany.

"I took my platoon on a 58-mile hike through the German countryside to the ski resorts," the sergeant said.

"There is more of a family involvement in the Army now," Ross said in pointing out he frequently had the men under his command over to his home in the NCO quarters for Sunday cook-outs.

Ross said Army mess halls today are "run like restaurants," with operations modernized to the extent many cooks are now using microwave ovens.

During his career, Ross received the Meritorious Service Medal and the Army Commendation Medal, four Good Conduct Medals, National Defense Service Medal, Republic of Vietnam Campaign Medal, Vietnam Service Medal, Republic of Vietnam Gallantry Cross with Palm Leaf, and a Meritorious Unit Commendation.

Ross said he chose the non-commissioned ranks because he enjoys most working directly with men and equipment.

"And I hope to be able to continue working closely with men and equipment, and preferably in an area which will allow me to travel between England and the Gulf Coast," he concluded.

of money together and do what we can with what we have," Longo explained when Johnson objected to piecemeal work on the center.

"That roof is 40-years-old and has had its normal life. It should be replaced before we do any more inside," Johnson said.

The aldermen instructed Ms. Rapold to advertise for a "five-ply, hot mop roof with gravel and all necessary flashing."

The aldermen accepted a $1,787 bid on new carpeting for assessor-tax collector offices in the City Hall basement; for new city clerk and mayoralty offices being built on the first floor; and a newly-renovated police station to the rear of City Hall. The supplier will lay 28 ounce, commercial grade carpet with rubber backing.

The aldermen also accepted a $1,172 bid from Waveland Insulation Service to install 4,688 square feet of insulation at the new Waveland firehouse on Gulfview Drive.

The aldermen also authorized a request be made for the State Board of Health to reconsider its ban on fishing the oyster reefs off Waveland city limits.

"With $4 million worth of sewerage system there should be no problem with pollution in waters off our coast," noted City Attorney Lucien Gex.

Longo said he reviewed a recent pollution report which showed waters off the Waveland coastline to be the cleanest in the Mississippi Sound.

Gex noted there was no ban on oyster fishing off the Waveland coast prior to the installation of sewerage, adding the condition of the water should be considerably improved now.

The aldermen also authorized a request to local radio station WPUP for the station to consider daily broadcast of obituary notices, particularly for the benefit of senior citizens who have stated bi-weekly newspaper notices are not frequent enough.

The council also took under advisement an offer from A. C. Carver to allow the dumping of trash on property he owns on Bayou Philip Road off U.S. 90 at a charge of $1.50 per 16-cubic-yard load.

Alderman Herman Yarborough said the price may prove to be considerably cheaper than hauling trash to the county dump.

Health Tip

HANDICAPPED ADULTS

Does someone in your household have a physical handicap?

The American Medical Association points out that it is understandable and quite normal that you should wish to "do for" the disabled member of your family, but it may be more helpful to allow him to do for himself.

To make sure you are really being helpful, it is wise to consult with the patient's physician and have him outline the patient's real capabilities and limitations. It is possible that the patient is not interested in minimizing his physical problems. Real psychological problems are best handled with the advice of a physician, but there are several factors that illustrate the type of problems that may be encountered in living in a household with a handicapped person.

The dependent nature of some people, which their disability tends to accentuate.

Lack of intellectual ability or educational background.

Just plain laziness.

The need to let others do the work after having spent a lifetime of "doing for others." The parents feel the children should take care of them.

The aesthetic type who may object to equipment or certain techniques (such as use of mouthstick, wearing of splints) because they are not cosmetics or graceful in use.

The false expectation of complete recovery, so that devices aren't seen as necessary.

Once you know what can be realistically expected of the handicapped individual, and you know that he is desirous of receiving help, then your help can prove invaluable. Even here, though, a few points of procedure may prove useful.

Offer help, but don't force it upon someone.

Find out what activity is most important to the individual and start with that—eating, putting on make-up, reading, playing cards.

See the patient's idea. Otherwise you may be only gratifying your own desires.

Keep an open and receptive mind to the ideas of others.

Keep devices simple.

My first stay in a hotel

by S.G. Thigpen, county historian

By S. G. THIGPEN

"I am not ashamed to confess that I am ignorant of what I do not know," said Cicero, the great Roman. I say I am not ashamed to confess what I did not know 70 years ago.

I'll never forget my first trip to a city, and my first stay in a hotel.

About 1906 or 1907 I made my first trip away from home. As I walked into the hotel at which I had been told to stay, a man in a uniform ran up and grabbed my suitcase out of my hand, and started trotting off with it.

I had been warned to watch out for thieves. I also had been told not to act "country" or "green." I had not been forewarned of anyone running up and taking my suitcase. As it was in broad open daylight with people standing all around, I hesitated to run after the man and take my suitcase away from him but to be safe I followed close on his heels. The man stopped and put the suitcase down at a desk behind which a man was standing. As I walked up, the man behind the desk pushed an open book at me, saying, "register here."

I had been told that I would have to register so I wrote my name and address where the man indicated.

The man turned and studied a case with many pigeon holes in it. Appearing satisfied with what he had seen, he turned to me and said, "We have only one roof left, and it is a double room. Not knowing what he meant by a double room and not wanting to appear "green" or "country" and since he left me no choice, I told him I would take that room.

The desk man then handed a key to the man with the uniform on and said "427." He grabbed my suitcase and again started off in a trot. He did not seem to know how to walk. He stopped at the elevator, motioning me in. I right then took my first ride in an elevator.

Leaving the elevator, I followed the man, still in a trot, to a room door, which he unlocked and entered, me behind him. He put the suitcase down, looked around the room, then turned as if to leave, holding out his right hand.

I shook hands with him and said, "Glad to know you." He looked pretty queer, as he shook hands with me, then smiled, said goodbye and walked out. A friendly kind of feller, I thought. At that time I had never heard the word tip.

The room was a large one, two beds in it, carpet on the floor, big windows, a nice dresser with big mirror and some big comfortable chairs. The open door to the bathroom showed nice fixtures and everything looked good. "Boy, am I lucky," I said to myself, "to get such a nice place to stay."

I sat down on the side of the bed. It was springy and felt real good. I laid down across the bed. It was a good one. I went into the bathroom to take a look at it. Just to try it out, I turned the water on. Everything was perfect, and I felt really pleased.

As I walked out of the bathroom, I noticed a sign on the door. I walked over to read it, thinking it might be some kind of a welcoming message. What I read on that door shocked and staggered me. I was flabbergasted when I read it.

The sign on the door said, "This room is $10 per day." "I could hardly believe it. I read it over to make sure. That $10 then was the equivalent of $50 now or more.

I did not have much more than $10. I could not afford to spend that much for a room for just one night. I felt like I had been hit with a brick.

I sat down in one of the chairs to think a minute. I didn't know what to do. From all my previous experience I could hardly believe that $10 could be charged for a room for one night anywhere. I had gotten the idea that I could get a good room for one or two dollars — I had been told I could get a good one for $2 or $2.50.

I had never before felt so "up against it," as I did right then. I did not want to show myself as a "greenhorn" or a "country jake," neither did I want to spend so much for a room, for just one night. My first thought was to leave the hotel, but when I considered, I did not know where else to go. After debating with myself about it for a few minutes, I decided to stay and make the best of it.

After settling the important problem of staying on or not staying, I undressed and took a bath — a luxurious one. I felt some better of the situation but when I would count my money, I sank into the depths of discouragement.

I went to the bed in one of the nice beds. The bed was most comfortable, but I could not sleep for thinking about the $10. I rolled and tumbled until about midnight.

There was no use worrying, of course, but I could not help it when I'd think of how little money I'd have left after paying for the room.

I finally dozed off, and in a half dreamy state, the thought struck me, "If I have to pay, why not try to get my money's worth out of it?" I came fully awake and said out loud, "Why not get my money's worth out of my predicament?"

I got up and turned on the light and again filled the tub with water, filling it completely this time. I then leisurely took another bath, and I enjoyed it.

To still further try to get my money's worth I turned on all the lights in the room. After taking my time with the bath, and beginning to enjoy it, I turned down the covers on the other bed and went to bed in it, saying to myself, "If I got to pay for it, I am going to use it!" I was determined to do my best to get my money's worth.

I soon went to sleep and slept soundly the balance of the night. When called the next morning, I go up, took another bath, shaved, dressed and went down, paid my bill and left, feeling like I had gotten my money's worth, out of a bad situation.

The Sea Coast Echo

"THE VOICE OF THE SOUTHWEST MISSISSIPPI GULF COAST"

Bay St. Louis - Waveland - Diamondhead - Pass Christian

SEA COAST ECHO, JANUARY 5, 1978-1B

Outstanding problem solving is MEC plea

The president of the Mississippi Economic Council has called on the Mississippi Legislature "to confront the state's many problems" during the 1978 session.

MEC President Howard Lewis said "many of the problems have lingered for Harrison, Hancock, Stone, many of these challenges can be met and resolved."

"The state has been grappling with problems in the area of property tax for a long time. Perhaps this year will be the year that action will be taken," said the Greenwood businessman.

"However, the Council does not wish to see just any bill approved, merely to appear to be meeting this challenge. We believe a required reappraisal bill is the only acceptable alternative," said Lewis.

The MEC president also said the Legislature "must be willing to resolve the problems in the areas of highway finance, 18th Section lands, and government reorganization."

"The problems of highway finance and government reorganization have been studied by interim committees during the past nine months, and there should be some productive action taken during the session," said

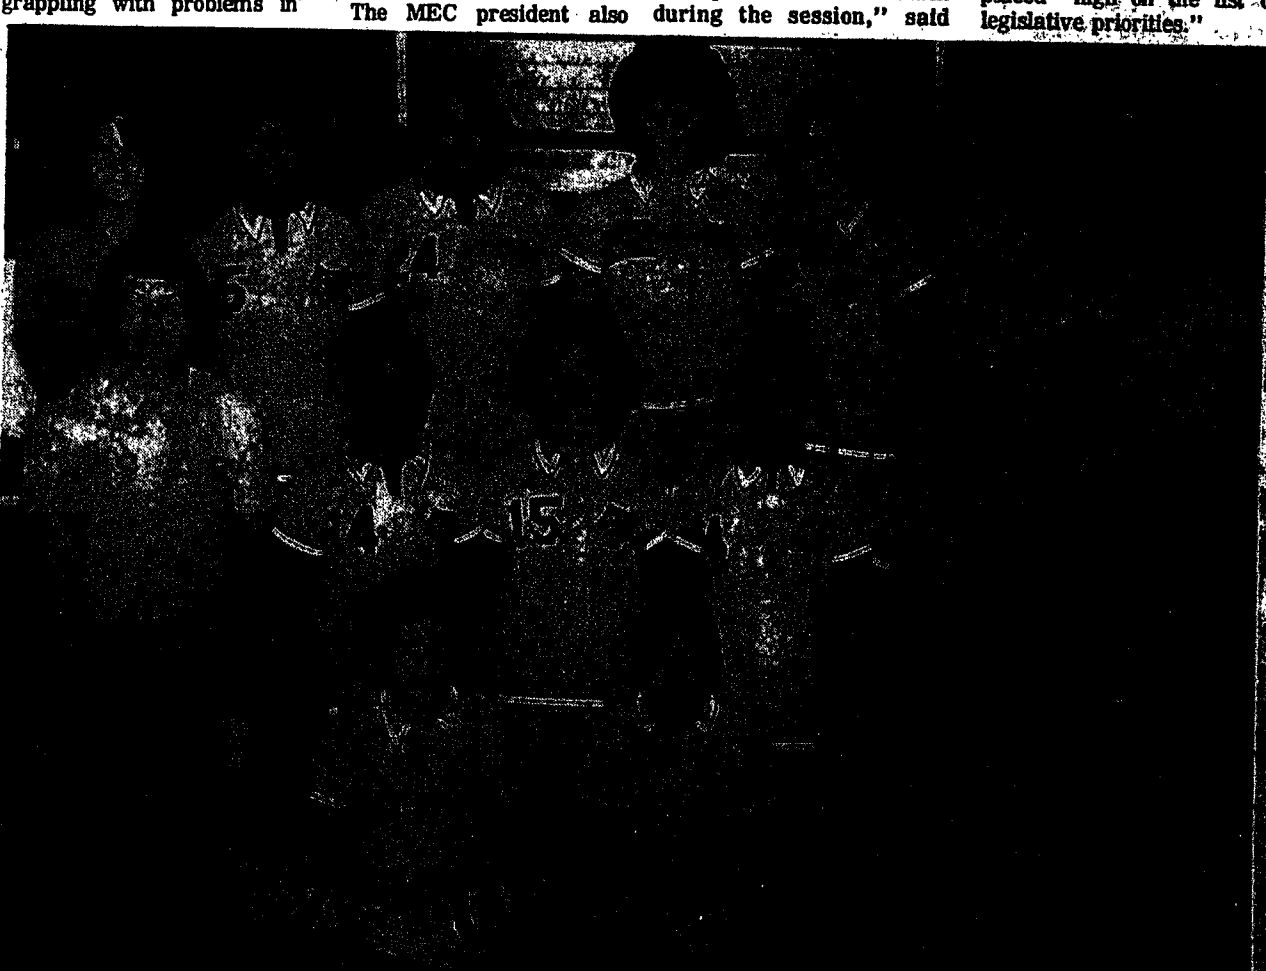

Lewis. "And, the 16th Sections lands problem has been discussed at length. Hopefully, this year there will be some meaningful registration in each of these areas."

Lewis said a bill dealing with the school lands — similar to the measure passed by the House last year — should be placed "high on the list of legislative priorities."

Barbara Favre, Donna Williams, and Christine Verdon. Not pictured is Karen Tillman. The Tigerettes have won five and lost two thus far, and will take that record against St. John there at 6 p.m. Monday. They will compete, as well, in the Bay Junior High Tournament at the school gym Tuesday through Saturday.

Harvill outdoors

By Donald Harvill

The saltwater fishing has been pretty good locally for those people willing to go out in the cold. Specks have been caught in the Jordan River, in the Louisiana marshes at Chandeleur and other local areas.

The freshwater fishing should also be good. You should be able to catch some nice bass, bream and crappie. The bass should be biting such underwater baits as plastic worms, crankbaits, spinners, etc. The crappie and bream should be biting too if you can find them in deeper water.

The main thing at present is deer season. Like I've said before the second season is usually the best for deer hunting. This is because the colder weather sends the bucks into the rut or mating season. During this period the bucks are more apt to make a mistake.

The rutting season in our area usually goes into full swing about the time our deer season closes.

This is the first year for the Mississippi Game and Fish Commission to set aside a special "still hunting only" or "no dog" season. This season started Tuesday and will close tomorrow, Jan. 6.

Some hunters believe that it is necessary to run dogs in order to kill deer, this is pure bunk.

Some people have the best luck or rather the worst. Jack Hode of Bay St. Louis, while on a recent hunting trip kicked up three deer, two of which were readily identified as bucks. Hode proceeded to shoot the larger of the two, only to miss the two bucks four times. Later during the same hunt he was nearly trampled by two spikes, his excuse that time was that his gun wouldn't fire. The moral of this story is: "You can't kill deer by shooting out the tops of pine trees," but a gun isn't worth a hoot if it won't shoot."

Milton (Bones) Bernard of Waveland, sacked a fine feral hog on a recent hunting trip. The hog was rolling in fat, it must have weighed nearly 300 pounds. There are quite a few feral hogs in our local woods.

There have been quite a few deer seen, shot at, and killed this past week. I heard that Ronnie Ferrell bagged a nice, eight pointer this past Monday morning. John Pursley collected a 200 pound, six pointer, Wednesday evening a week ago. I heard that Johnny Bufkin missed one a few times on Monday. Norman Taverville said that he counted 17 deer Monday. Yours truly managed to knock off a nice six pointer last Tuesday evening.

BAY ST. LOUIS - The fishing is improving, the specks are being caught in the Jordan River, trolling with artificial bait. Specks are also being caught off the Bay Bridge. Some of the "hot" lures are the tungo, red-headed cisco kid, and the sonic. Ed Symmes, Eddie Kahler and Ed Hurlbert caught about 200 pounds of specks at Chandeleur Wednesday a week ago. All of the specks that are being caught are real nice. The hunting has been pretty good this week. (Ed Symmes, Sportsman's Paradise)

BAYOU CADDY - For those fishermen who can brave the cold weather speck trolling in the bayous is real good. Clifford Vogt caught some nice specks. (Wilford Borge, Borge Bros. Marina)

JOE'S BAYOU - The speck fishing is good in the river on frozen bait. The water conditions are excellent, the water is clear and salty and the tides are good. If you can stand the cold weather, the fish are waiting for you. Sylvan Carver and his two friends, Scott Davis and Otis Bounds, did some duck hunting over the holidays and bagged some nice ducks.

UPSIDE DOWN DEER is being displayed by Donald Harvill who bagged the six pointer on Monday.

(Mrs. Allie Cospelich, Joe's Bayou Marina)

Hawks fall to Boonville

By ELLIS CUEVAS

Hancock North Central Hawks were defeated by Boonville 91-64 last Friday night. Coach Roland Ladner's Hawks are now 11-7 for the season.

The Hawk scoring was led by Barry Arcement with 19 points, Dean Shaw, Pat Necaise and Mark Ladner had 12 points apiece. Necaise had 6 assists and Shaw 4 assists.

Boonville shooting was led by Dale Grove with 23, and Mike Lester 19.

In commenting about the game coach Ladner said, "Boonville played a good game before 2,000 of their supporters. In North Mississippi student and parent support of basketball is tremendous. Nothin gives a team more enthusiasm than when the bleachers are filled with cheering supporters. We got into foul trouble in the first quarter with three fouls each on four of our key players." Coach Ladner said that they made an educational trip out of the journey to Boonville. They stopped at the home of a longtime friend of Coach Ladner, Bonner Arnold. Arnold is a retired high school junior college coach and chief scout for the late Adolph Rupp of Kentucky. As a coach Arnold won national championships with high school and junior college teams in basketball.

Coach Ladner was able to show his players some of the many trophies that Arnold has collected over the years.

The Hawks play tomorrow night at Forest.

Senior Citizens Happenings

By FRED HORN

The Senior Citizens of Hancock County can look forward to another active year. Several events will take place during the coming months. One event that started in December of 1977 was the Coffee and Biscuits chit and chat session every Tuesday from 9:30 to 11:00 A.M. at the Waveland Civic Center. Why not plan a car pool, come on down to the center and enjoy 90 minutes of good old fashion fellowship. There will also be a competent nurse in attendance to take blood pressure readings. Our Recreation Director, Jim Hoda, is planning a trip to Hawaii on April 17th. Deadline for reservations will be February 15th. Cut off date will be February 28th. For further information please call Jim Hoda, 467-9292.

To the Senior Citizens who are not members of the National Council of Senior Citizens there are many advantages by being a member of N.C.S.C. There are group rates on NCSC's Medicare supplements and substantial savings on your prescriptions through their drug service, discounts on domestic travel and the Senior Citizens News, published monthly and sent to all members. This paper is filled with stimulating features and the kind of accurate in depth reporting, that can make you a more informed voter. There are 22 million Senior Citizens in this Nation, 3,900 local clubs spread through every area of the country.

For further information in regards to being a member of the National Council of Senior Citizens, contact any of the officers of the Senior Citizens Clubs in Bay St. Louis, Waveland, Pearlinton or Kiln.
